Amazonico

Opened by renowned husband and wife team, Sandro Silva and Marta Seco, whose first restaurant in Madrid became one of the city's most-popular and well-loved restaurants, Amazonico Dubai, situated in the heart of DIFC is the couple's second restaurant to open outside of Spain and takes inspiration from the cultural diversity and gastronomic heritage of the Amazon region. Open from lunch until late, discover an immersive environment of rainforest-inspired lush greenery and natural materials designed by internationally renowned artist Lázaro Rosa-Violan.

Combining a blend of tropical and Latin American cuisines our menus are not only inspired by the countries of the Amazon but the unique Asian and Mediterranean communities which inhabit them. From Peruvian sushi and the freshest raw seafood to carefully sourced grilled meats and fish; the chefs use both traditional and cutting-edge techniques along with seasonal and vibrant ingredients to transport you to South America.

COYA Dubai

Incan heritage and Latin American lifestyle come to the Middle East at Coya Dubai. This award-winning restaurant from London focuses on traditional elements of Peruvian cooking with a modern spin. Discover the spirit of South America and enjoy a truly unique, multi-dimensional dining experience in Dubai.

COYA was born from the spirit of adventure. In 2012, Culinary Chef Sanjay Dwivedi took a year-long gastro tour of Latin America on a hunt for the most exciting flavours in international contemporary cuisine. He found what he was looking for in Peru. When he returned to London, Sanjay spent 11 months in the kitchen developing the first menu for COYA.

COYA is especially renowned for celebrating pisco, Peru's national drink. For those who aren't pisco fans, they can also choose from 40 tequilas, a huge number of rums, champagnes and soft drinks behind the bar, so there's no excuse not to have a good time!

Shanghai Me

Shanghai Me is the epitome of Art Deco elegance, located in Dubai's International Finance Centre. The cuisine is inspired by the culinary traditions of East Asia, the precision and practice of delicate dishes that have taken centuries to perfect. The region's rich heritage can be seen throughout our menu, serving recipes that have been preserved from generation to generation with a playful twist.

Showcasing the glamour and depth of Shanghai's history, the restaurant has created a refined yet relaxed ambiance designed to transport each and every visitor to experience life under the dynasties.

Designed by renowned architect Michele Bonan, the beautiful bamboo and banana tree filled terrace evokes the green jungles of Asia, the luxurious lounge and exclusive private dining table pays tribute to the prohibited parties of the golden age, and the cuisine provides a taste of Asian tradition.

Zuma

A favourite amongst fans of Japanese food, Zuma is a trendy hotspot for the affluent DIFC's after-work crowd and is considered to be one of the very best restaurants in Dubai. The fine dining venue is often listed among the 50 Best Restaurants in the world on the highly respected San Pellegrino list – considered to be the 'Oscars of food'.

Known for 'izakaya' – a Japanese style of dining that emphasises sharing – Zuma serves its dishes in a steady flow as they are ready, allowing diners to sample each dish at a leisurely pace. You can order from a comprehensive menu of Japanese classics that includes miso-marinated black cod, sushi, sashimi and a selection of smaller dishes.

Choose where you eat based on your mood. You can dine with a crowd in the cavernous main dining area, sit at one of the sushi or robata counters and watch chefs slicing and grilling, or eat in the more informal lounge.

Netsu

Netsu is a Japanese Steakhouse from acclaimed Chef Ross Shonhan. Showcasing the traditional Japanese cooking technique of Warayaki – straw fire cooking – Netsu serves a tantalising menu of Warayaki style grills, sushi and sashimi platters, and other Japanese style dishes, complemented by stunning interiors and a sophisticated atmosphere.

On balmy nights, take a seat on Netsu’s large terrace and enjoy alfresco dining in a relaxed poolside setting. Inside, diners enjoy an almost theatrical ambience as flames curve around the kitchen counter as our chef torches the straw.

The complex food menu is complemented by an extensive wine list, featuring approximately 70 labels and a Japanese-inspired signature cocktail list. There is also a dedicated Sake Sommelier who has chosen a premium selection of artisanal sake, served in unique sake pots.

Zheng He's

Zheng He's is a longstanding institution of Chinese dining in Dubai, situated near the famous waterways of Mina A'Salam at Madinat Jumeirah.

The restaurant's interior features polished wood flooring with modern Asian inspired decor. The East-meets-West finishing includes red hanging lanterns, large traditional wall hangings and fine china pieces on display.

The menu features a selection of dim sum, mini starters, fresh seafood, noodle dishes and Australian beef and lamb, all of which is served with an entertaining display from the staff – including duck carved at your table.

Outdoor seating gives you a view of the Burj Al Arab Jumeirah, less than a metre away from the winding canals. This is truly one of Dubai's most beloved Chinese restaurants, where the atmosphere is as inviting as the cuisine.

Il Borro Tuscan Bistro Dubai

Il Borro brings the taste of Tuscany to the Middle East with a modern interpretation of the 1,000 year old cuisine. Started by the son of Salvatore Ferragamo, Ferruccio Ferragamo opened the restaurant in Dubai to diversify the family empire. This time, drawing inspiration from their Tuscan Estate.

Much like Dubai's latest developments, Il Borro follows the trend of modern cuisine. However, you still experience the rich and authentic taste of Italian dining. The organic food represents the simplicity of Tuscan cooking. So you'll find plenty of home-grown organic olive oil, seasonal vegetables and honey.

By recreating the flavours and recipes of Tuscan food for Dubai, the bistro translates the history and philosophy of Italian food. Open in the bright and airy location at Dubai's top resort, Jumeirah Al Naseem, Il Borro presents the sustainability and integrity of the estate and its produce.

Il Ristorante – Niko Romito

Echoing the elegant design of the original Bvlgari Hotel Milano, Il Ristorante – Niko Romito at The Bvlgari Resort Dubai celebrates the rich heritage of Italy.

Every element of the restaurant's ambiance has been hand-picked to ensure a seamless dining experience. Raised banquettes offer a better view of the Arabian Gulf, as a dramatic black ceiling gives the impression of dining at night under the sky.

Bvlgari Hotels and Resorts' own Michelin starred Italian chef, Niko Romito, has curated a blend of modern and classical Italian concept exclusively for Il Ristorante, interpreting the exquisite flavours of Italy with modern simplicity. Working from his three starred restaurant in Italy and regularly counseling his personally trained chef, resident in the hotel he brings to Il Ristorante – Niko Romito a menu that expresses the Italian culture at its best.

Tasca

Located on the sixth floor of Mandarin Oriental Jumeira, Dubai, Tasca is an exciting new restaurant from culinary genius José Avillez. Named after the Portuguese word for tavern, Tasca is José Avillez's first international opening, following on behind the Michelin-starred Belcanto as well as his other celebrated ventures in Portugal.

Serving genuine Portuguese flavours with a contemporary twist, Tasca's menu bursts with character and flavour. Complementing the menu is a wine list with the largest selection of Portuguese wines in Dubai as well as a tempting array of craft cocktails.

Boasting spectacular views over Dubai's glittering skyline on one side and the Arabian Gulf on the other, the restaurant offers both indoor and outdoor dining on a terrace with infinity pool overlooking the Gulf.

LPM Restaurant & Bar

Transport yourself to the south of France at LPM Restaurant – arguably the best French food you can find in Dubai. That's what many will say about LPM Restaurant in DIFC Gate Village, an offshoot of the French café chain born in Nice.

The classy restaurant has been raking in awards since it opened, which will be no surprise once you've tasted the food. Within the high-end hotspot, the cream walls are hung with modern art and tables draped with white cloths in front of cream leather banquettes.

The menu focuses on Nicoise cuisine, where French Mediterranean fusion has been evolving and taking in some inspiration from Italy. You'll find mouth-watering grilled aubergine with mozzarella, and plenty of seafood. Top picks include prawns and Provencal pistou sauce and pan-fried Dover Sole with grainy mustard.

OPA

It all began on a small island in Greece. In a quaint, charming kitchen, a gentleman named Kyriakos spent years perfecting his favorite Greek dishes, sharing the rich and delicious flavors with his friends and family.

When his son Christos relocated to Dubai, Kyriakos eagerly came to visit. As he explored the vibrant city, he felt that Greek food was not so easy to find. It was then, that Kyriakos decided that he needed to share the rich history and flavorsome cuisine with the UAE community.

With his appetite for tender meats and zesty salads, the Zorba dance and smashing plates, Kyriakos excitedly began to build his traditional restaurant in Dubai.

Before long, with all the ingredients of Greek cuisine, culture, and passion, Opa was born.

Fish Beach Taverna

Fish Beach Taverna is one of Dubai's latest seafood establishments, with an ambience reminiscent of sitting at a cafe in Santorini. Adorned in blue and white decor, Fish Beach Taverna serves up authentic Aegean Sea fare that is traditional along Greece and Turkey's coastline.

With today's ever-popular sharing culture in mind, this restaurant offers small plates along with fresh daily catches that the chef is ready to cook up to your liking. Fish Beach Taverna lets you experience Mediterranean dining, with all produce and ingredients freshly sourced from Turkey.

The freshest, wild cold-water fish caught from the Aegean Sea, Black Sea and Marmara Sea are flown directly to Dubai before being prepared by Turkish chefs. Fish Beach Taverna focuses on providing a beach dining experience like no other. Be delighted by the catch of the day, while soaking up the beachside atmosphere and family time over delicious and wholesome food.

Carnival by Trèsind

A sister venue to the acclaimed Trèsind, Carnival by Trèsind offers a post-modern take on fine dining and traditional Indian dishes. The chic venue is adorned with black and white chevron floors and illuminated copper-coloured trees.

The modern and vibrant theme extends into its menu, but the traditions of Indian cooking remain intact. Find the famous Game of Corns dish, made up of sweet corn-curd and coconut, goji berry chutney and Japanese mayonnaise.

In contrast is the Vada Pav, a fried potato patty sandwiched between bread with chutney, originally a staple dish for mill-workers in Mumbai and a popular street food today. If you are having trouble deciding what to order, opt for the 15-course degustation menu, either with, or without meat.

Al Nafoorah

Al Nafoorah is an authentic Lebanese restaurant in Jumeirah Zabeel Saray and in Madinat Jumeirah's Jumeirah Al Qasr. Placing an emphasis on traditional Lebanese service, they are proud of building their warm customer rapport. In a secluded location that makes for a private and intimate dining experience, the food may be classic Lebanese, but served in a contemporary style, with a selection of hot and cold mezze and mixed grill.

Sitting in the shadow of the mezzeh, Al Nafoorah's other offerings, particularly the Ashtha bil asal (fresh cream with almonds and pistachios drizzled with honey), make a fine effort to trump the signature dish. Complementing the exquisite food, al-fresco dining available in the summer offers exquisite views of Dubai's skyline. An authentic atmosphere is conjured by the attentive waiters, shisha pipes and quiet Arabic music. With such a luxe atmosphere (and pricetag to match), Al Nafoorah is a popular place for celebratory and special occasions, and with good reason.

WHITE Beach Dubai

Hot by day and even hotter by night – WHITE Beach Dubai is where A-listers want to be seen enjoying their time in Dubai. Swanky in its design, this comfortable beach club makes a great spot to relax and chill out during the day. But as the sun begins to set, the place starts to really come alive. Featuring a regular rotation of DJs and international musicians delivering funky beats, WHITE Beach turns into one of Dubai’s most exclusive parties on a nightly basis during the cooler months. Party-goers are flocking to the Instagram-worthy infinity pool and breezy open-air terrace.
